

The FoNS Weekly News

Principles for advanced practice

These principles include a definition of advanced level practice

June 2025

New Advanced Practice Principles

We were really delighted to see the NMC publish the Principles for Advanced Practice recently. These are much needed principles to bring clarity and consistency for both professionals and the public to advanced nursing and midwifery practice across the UK.

Hear from FoNS CEO Joanne Bosanquet and Dr Melanie Rogers, a member of a group of global Advanced Nurse Practitioners who have been working to implement and evaluate a RBCS programme to support their wellbeing post-covid.

Nurses from Nigeria & Australia announced as the winners of recent NNCGSI in collaboration with FoNS

Today FoNS and the Nursing Now Challenge are delighted to announce that the winners of the recent Clinical Supervision NNCGSI are Lois Ezebuoro and Alicia McKenna.

Over the course of four weeks, the Nursing Now Challenge and FoNS ran three sessions to provide a deep dive into the field of Clinical Supervision.

- Session 1: What is clinical supervision and why should we support clinical supervision in practice?
- Session 2: What represents good clinical supervision from an individual perspective and an organisational perspective?
- Session 3: How to engage people in positive conversations around clinical supervision?

You can read more about this and hear from the winners themselves on the Nursing Now website

Deadline 10 July: FoNS seeks enthusiastic Trustees to join our Board

We are a growing organisation with an exciting vision for our future, a creative charity with innovative research-based programmes which support the wellbeing of nurses and nursing teams.

We wish to strengthen our Board with people who have the necessary skills, energy and commitment and we welcome applicants from all backgrounds.

Could that be you?

Don't delay, deadline Thursday 10 July 5025

Find out more

Don't miss: The next Art of Nursing webinar

16 July 2025, 1.00-2.00pm

The RCN Library and Museum's new major exhibition presents art by and about nurses - revealing how they have been mythologised, frequently as saints, angels and heroes, usually as female, predominantly as white. It explores the role of art in constructing and also resisting such stereotypes, by exposing the complexity, labour and expertise of nursing, perhaps the most artful of professions.

This webinar explores the exhibition themes of creativity, resistance and renewal in more depth.

Book your free place: Creativity, resistance and renewal. Stories from the exhibition

Calling social care nurses in the South West

Care and Support West invite you to their Monthly Webinar, this month featuring our very own Sue Hill.

- Tuesday, July 15, 2025
- 10:00 AM 12:00 PM

Please take a look, it's a varied agenda.

View the agenda and book your free place

Action for Happiness

How can we have not mentioned this month's calendar in last week's news? It's Jump Back July – there are so many suggestions for reframing and focussing on ways to be positive, and happy.

Jump back July Calendar

Liked this week's issue? Don't forget to share!

Privacy

Terms

Foundation of Nursing Studies

11-13 Cavendish Square London W1G
0AN, London
United Kingdom

Unsubscribe

